De-Prioritized Companies to Boycott

These companies were featured on Celebrity Apprentice as co-branded sponsors. Over half of Celebrity Apprentice sponsors pulled sponsorship prior to the end of the show, but these five brands did not. NBC has announced the Celebrity Apprentice is unlikely to return. These companies will remain on the list until they make a statement that they would not choose to sponsor the show again, in the unlikely event of its return.

Entities NOT Being Boycotted at this Time

Bookstores selling books by or about Donald Trump and/or Trump family

: Not only do bookstores sometimes have publisher-level (versus title-level) deals in place, but written material about political figures provides valuable strategic insight, even when that material financially benefits those figures.

Companies reflected by Donald's cabinet picks

: Effective boycotts give the companies on the list a positive, actionable way to have their names removed from the list, so adding the companies of the companies reflected by Trump's cabinet would not be productive. For instance, adding ExxonMobil to the list due to Tillerson's presence in the cabinet would not give that company a way to get off of the list, because Tillerson resigned from the company to take the position. Instead, we've added information to the "Other Companies on Our Radar" part of the list.

Facebook

: Given its massive international user base and high levels of daily engagement, the ways in which Facebook contributed to the distribution of foreign-financed propaganda during the election is of serious concern in our democracy and in the world. That Trump surrogate Peter Thiel is on the board of Facebook doesn't help matters much. After extensive discussions w/ Grab Your Wallet participants, Facebook is NOT being placed on the boycott list at this time for several reasons: (1) it's a vital tool for self-organizing (2) Mark Zuckerberg has made formal statements acknowledging the problem of propaganda on the Facebook platform and has made a commitment to addressing / fixing it. That said, we're watching this one closely. See "Other Companies on Our Radar" section of this site for more info on Facebook.

Home Depot

: Home Depot co-founder Bernie Marcus endorsed Donald Trump and has made derogatory/offensive remarks about Democrats but is no longer w/ the company and all Trump Home products on the site are marked discontinued. See "Other Companies on Our Radar" section of this site for more info on Home Depot.

PayPal

: Paypal co-founder Peter Thiel is an official Trump campaign surrogate but is no longer involved with Paypal and does not sit on its board. While some boycotts of PayPal have chosen to focus on Trump supporter Carl Ichan being a PayPal stockholder, publicly traded companies do not control who owns stock in them and according to the Wall Street Journal, Ichan owns only 3% of the company's stock, which is not a controlling share.

Niketown

: Update 12/6/17: Forbes reports that Niketown is leaving Trump's property and that Trump himself was a factor in that decision. The athletic apparel company's flagship Niketown store in New York City is located in a space owned by Trump and is reportedly one of his biggest revenue generators, but as with other companies that lease from Trump -- it is acknowledged that the lease may have been signed prior to the election, which is why Niketown was never placed on the Grab Your Wallet list.

Washington Post

: Amazon is on the #GrabYourWallet boycott list and Amazon CEO Jeff Bezos personally owns the Washington Post, however the Post is an institution that existed long before Amazon did and it continues to do some of the finest and most essential investigative reporting in the world. When polled 58% of #GrabYourWallet participants said WaPo should not be added to the list. We do encourage people to subscribe directly versus via the Amazon site.

Footnotes

[^1]: On 3/12/17 Ivanka Trump products disappeared from both the Bed Bath & Beyond site as well as that of its subsidiary, Buy Buy Baby. Phone checks conducted after that could not locate any Trump brand products for sale at 20+ brick and mortar locations in various regions of the U.S. Bed Bath & Beyond was temporarily removed from the #GrabYourWallet list, but was re-added when the company made a statement that it does still carry Ivanka Trump items in some brick & mortar locations.

[^2]: During the period of 2/6/17 through 2/10/17 several retailers removed all or most Trump brand items from their websites including Saks OFF FIFTH, Burlington Coat Factory, Sears, Kmart, Jet, HSN, Gilt, ShopStyle, and Belk. HSN and ShopStyle confirmed in statements this was a deliberate choice. HSN made a statement that it is still selling at least one Trump brand product (commemorative currency), so it's remaining on the list. Belk has stated publicly it will continue to sell Ivanka in brick and mortar locations, so it remains on the list. Burlington Coat Factory has removed all Trump brand goods from its site but has made no public statement about brick and mortar locations, so it remains on the list. Jet has been removed from the boycott list as well as Gilt and ShopStyle. Kmart & Sears publicly stated that they would no longer directly stock & ship Trump brand goods from their websites & no longer sell Trump items in brick and mortar locations. Sears & Kmart do still provide official Trump brand products via 3rd party retailers, so on 2/13/17 they were moved to the FYI section.

[^3]: On 2/7/17 the New York Times reported on a leaked document revealing that TJ Maxx managers were instructed to get rid of Ivanka Trump signage in the stores and mix Ivanka items in with other merchandise rather than display it separately. The company made an official statement that it continues to sell the merchandise, so it remains on the #GrabYourWallet list until products are fully phased out.
